

ROOSEVELT SAYS NEW PARTY IN BATTLE ADVANCE

Defeated Bull Moose Declares That Progressives Have Come to Stay and That His Cause Will Win.

GLOATS OVER HUGE BALLOT HE RECEIVED

Asserts He Is Glad That He Could Fight Shoulder to Shoulder with the Several Leaders in Campaign.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Theodore Roosevelt made a formal statement to-night bearing on the election and the future of the progressive party. In line with his previous expressions all his own and that of colleagues he reiterated that the progressive party has come to stay, and so far from being over, the battle has just begun. "He regards, he said, the party showing in polling more than 4,000,000 of votes as a fact of enormous importance in the path of the new movement and as 'literally unparalleled in the history of a free government.'"

His statement follows: "I congratulate the progressives of the country. That is, I congratulate those good men and women who with sincerity of purpose or the common good, have had the vision to look into the coming years, to see what the future demands from us who work in this present."

Work Unparalleled
"What the progressive party has done since the theft of the republican nomination by the republican bosses at Chicago, last June is literally unparalleled in the history of free government and worked under representative instructions, three months gone by since some 100 earnest men and women gathered and founded the progressive party."

"Without much money and without any order against the wealth of the country and against the entire organized political ability of the country and against bitter hostility of ninety per cent of the country, against fierce opposition of every upholder of special privileges, whether in politics or in business with the channels of information to the public largely choked the progressive party holds between four and four and a half million votes, hopelessly beating one of the old parties in both the electoral college and popular vote, has taken the second place in national politics and either first or second place in thirty-seven of the forty-eight states."

Work Exceeds Examples
"No task in any way approaching this ever before has been performed by any party in our country. Such a feat, performed by volunteers hastily brought together, without previous organization with one another against trained veterans including the entire mercenary forces of politics—should be a source of pride not only to those who performed the task but to all believers in good citizenship, in the capacity of an American for self government."

Progressive Party to Stay
The progressive party has come to stay if either of the old parties will endeavor to put into legislation any one of our planks it can count upon our hearty support in so doing; but we do not rest contented until our entire platform is enacted into law."

"I am proud of the great good fortune of mine to fight shoulder to shoulder with men and women who in the ranks and various positions of leadership waged this great battle for the social and industrial justice, so far from being over, the battle is just begun. We will not rest content until every feature of the progressive program is put into effect; when this is done unquestionably there will have been opened to us new avenues along which still will be the duty of work for moral and economic betterment of our people."

He made a number of calls and visited a number of officials of the United States of the Confederacy whose convention will begin tomorrow and delivered addresses at the dedication of the new building for the Sibley memorial hospital. Tonight he attended a reception to the Southern Relief society tendered by the officers of the library of congress.

Bryan had nothing to say about congress today but intimated he might have some comment to make on the national situation before he leaves Washington next week. He is staying at the home of his son, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., who is attending college here.

At the dedication of the Sibley memorial hospital Bryan delivered an address along distinctly religious lines and made but one defense of his politics when in his opening he declared: "I feel more sure about my religion than I do about my politics."

Mrs. George O. Hobbs, president of Women's Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, laid the corner stone of the new building and she occupied the platform with Bryan.

HEARS CANAL ARGUMENT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The United States court of claims today heard arguments in the case of the Colorado Delta Canal company involving a claim of $1,437,356, alleged to be due because the secretary of the interior deprived the company of the right to irrigate lands in Yuma valley, Arizona.

The government contends the secretary was authorized by a special act of congress to divert the water from the Colorado river and the petitioners claim their vested right is superior to that of the United States under the reclamation act of 1902, and that the secretary was subject to local laws before putting into effect the Yuma project.

REPUBLICANS TO FORM NEW PARTY

Senators Cummins, Kenyon and Works Decide It Is Necessary to Reorganize Old Adherents

CHANGE IS NECESSARY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A report from Iowa that Senators Cummins and Kenyon of that state and Governor Hadley of Missouri had entered a movement for the reorganization of the republican party along progressive lines was the basis of much comment here today. The only progressive senators in the city were Senator Dixon of Montana, who managed Coolidge's campaign, Senator Works of California, who refused to support either Roosevelt or Taft. Senator Dixon attaches little importance to the movement while Senator Works is in favor of it.

"What can they do in view of the fact we took 4,000,000 votes away from the party," Senator Dixon asked. He refused to discuss the question of affiliation of the progressives in the senate with either the republicans or democrats but said the purpose of the progressive party would continue to depend on its course in the nation. Senator Works warmly approved the Cummins-Kenyon-Hadley idea. "If it is going to live, the republican party will have changed front," he said. "The reactionary or conservative leaders will have to give way to the progressives and the result of the late election proves this beyond all controversy."

No Arbitration for Panama Canal With England Expected

Retirement of British Ambassador Gives Idea Treaty Will Be Abandoned

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—The retirement of British Ambassador Bryce, which will be officially announced soon, is believed in diplomatic circles to mean the abandonment by United States of any purpose it may have had for the consummation of an arbitration treaty with England concerning the Panama canal. HE SITS ON GASOLINE; IS NOW IN HOSPITAL

Man Who Used Can of Oil as Seat Will Remain at C. Q. Institution

Because of insufficient accommodations in sending his company, which necessitated the use of a can of gasoline for a chair, Pete Hanson, a resident of Lowell, is now in the Copper Queen hospital with severe burns about the lower part of his body.

Hanson was entertaining several of his friends in his home on the Lowell road Sunday afternoon and not having sufficient chairs to go around, he utilized a ten-gallon can of gasoline for that purpose. As the evening wore on and no lamp was lighted, Hanson had totally forgotten that he was sitting on the gasoline in the pollution that ensued.

About 7:30 o'clock, according to a statement given to a Review reporter by one of the men present, Hanson felt something trickling down his leg and into his shoes. As there was no light to see by, he struck a match to determine the cause. Hanson was immediately a mass of flames and the room soon in like condition. He how ever had the presence of mind to throw the can out of doors while the remainder of the men tore the burning garments from his body.

An automobile, which was standing nearby, was hurriedly brought into service and Hanson was taken to the Copper Queen hospital. The interior of the house was completely burned, hardly an article of inflammable material but what was soon a charred mass.

The volunteer fire department of Lowell was called and with the aid of several neighbors, who formed themselves into a bucket brigade, the fire was kept from spreading. When seen at the hospital Monday evening, the doctors said that Hanson was doing very well and that amputation of the leg, which was at first thought would be necessary, would be avoided.

STOCKS DECLINE AT MARKET'S END

In Early Hours of the Day Irregularity Is Evident But Prices Are Held Above Level

COURT CAUSES FALL

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—After four hours of irregularity, during which prices rose and fell, within one point of the limit, today's stock market suddenly turned weak in the last hour, not only wiping out all the gains but in several instances, notably Steel, moving under last week's level. Selling in late dealings was moderate and declines gradual.

The only previous break in the monotony during one hour was when the prices suffered severe declines on news from Washington that the supreme court would render no decisions today in cases of importance to Wall Street.

Call money touched six per cent during the later part of the day, but the times rates were somewhat easier.

Bonds were lower. Total sales for value $2,628,000. Government bonds unchanged.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 11.—The thirty-third annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which was opened in this city today, and which will continue probably for two weeks or longer, got into working order before an adjournment was taken for this afternoon. More than half a thousand delegates, representing the leading labor bodies of the country, were in their seats when the gathering was called to order by President Samuel Gompers. After the exchange of greetings and the appointment of committees the convention listened to the annual reports of the several officers and the executive committee, which reviewed the activities of organized labor for the entire year and dealt specifically with the great textile strike at Lawrence, the propaganda of the Industrial Workers of the World, the relation of the national political campaign to the interests of the working classes and numerous legislative matters of interest to labor.

TURKS BEATEN AGAIN IN WAR WITH BALKANS

After Three Days of Battle, Ottoman Forces at Tchatalja, Are Defeated by the Bulgarian Forces

EXPECTED THIS IS LAST GREAT BATTLE

Question of Mediation Is Another Step Forward When Austria Agrees to Stand with Great Powers

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Judging by all precedents in the present war, the news tonight from Constantinople heralds another Turkish defeat at the Tchatalja lines, where the battle has been on for the last two or three days. The Turkish admission that so many wounded are arriving at the capital shows the Turks are offering fierce resistance and it has great significance. In the view of previous admissions of a similar nature it may be regarded as preparing the public for another disappointment. It may be possible that this will prove the last great battle of the campaign.

Bulgaria at Head of Victory

There are indications that the Bulgarian army will make a triumphal entry into Constantinople. According to some reports Bulgaria will be content with finding suitable winter quarters for her army while peace negotiations are going on. The question of mediation made announcement tonight from Paris that the Austrian government had agreed to join with the other powers in transmitting Turkey's request for mediation to the allies and in requiring that terms the allies are disposed to accept mediation.

Danger to Europe

The revelation of danger to European peace lying in the antagonistic centers of Austria and Serbia, appears to have quickened the sense of the powers and probably the Balkan states also to the imperative need of working in amicable cooperation to procure settlement of the Balkan problems acceptable to all. Another factor making for the speedy cessation of war is the approach of a severe winter, a condition which would give to the campaign and exceedingly arduous character.

Vienna May Interfere

There is still talk in Vienna of sending an ultimatum to Serbia and other warlike reports, but it is believed that Germany is exercising a mediating influence in the direction of getting both Austria and Serbia to consent to a postponement of the settlement until the whole subject can be dealt with in a European conference. Diplomacy is active in all European capitals. It is understood after the important mission of the Hungarian ambassador to Vienna, president of the Bulgarian chamber of deputies will go to other European courts to explain the view of the allies.

The Serbian premier, M. Pachitch, after an important cabinet meeting tonight left Belgrade for Uskup and reported the mobilization of Austrian-Hungarian forces at Budapest and Roumania is taking certain military measures with a view of being prepared for the event. He says: "We are witnesses of the fall of the Turks as soldiers. We have seen them dying of hunger, worn with fatigue and running away after having abandoned their place of combat."

"I never have seen a more striking picture of human distress than that presented by these unhappy men, thrown into one of the most terrible wars in history, without food, without medical attention, almost without a chief and almost without arms. At Scutari, I saw a soldier whose right hand had been severed, hold out the stub to us, begging for medical aid."
